

Registration Cards Mailed For Union's Boat Ride June 21-22

Advance registration cards and a beautiful folder explaining details of the annual summer convalesce of the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth, which this year will be a two-day ride aboard the S. S. Alabama Saturday and Sunday, June 21 and 22, were mailed this week to over 1,000 members and friends of the group.

Meanwhile Marshall Kottler of Michigan City, chairman of the affair, urged those planning to attend to send in their reservations early as accommodations are limited. Reservations should be mailed to the following according to cities: Indianapolis, Ann Shapiro, Henrietta Schwartz, Jean Joffe or Norman Weisman; Muncie, Bernard Freund; Fort Wayne, Wilbur Zweig; South Bend, Jules Grossman; Marion, Dan Resneck; Gary, Art Friedman; Hammond, Isidore Krieger, and Michigan City, Lou Hoodwin.

Starting from the docks in Michigan City at midnight, daylight saving time, Saturday, the ship will sail along the Wisconsin shore line through the night, returning to the city at noon Sunday. The late sailing time will allow those who work Saturday evening to embark for the week-end of fun.

The activities of the convalesce will begin on the boat at 3:30 p. m., daylight saving time, Saturday with all deck sports. A banquet will be held at midnight followed by dancing. Sunday morning an elaborate breakfast luncheon will be served.

The week-end fee will be $7.50.

From Indianapolis a special bus will leave some time Saturday. Reservations for the bus trip should be made with Miss Schwartz at Lincoln 0277 or any member of the registration committee.

The convalesce is not a date affair, Mr. Hoodwin, who is president of the Union, announced. The boat ride is not limited to union members and registration cards may be secured at Kirshbaum Center.

Indiana Awarded Dist. 2 Grand Lodge Convention; Sutin 2nd Vice-President

With Indiana's Lake Wawasee awarded the 1942 B'nai B'rith District Grand Lodge No. 2 convention, and with Lewis Sutin of Terre Haute named as second vice president, Indiana dominated the annual convention in Columbus, Ohio, as Samuel Mantel retired as president of the district. Indiana also figured in the convention news when a petition for a charter for a new lodge at Vincennes, Ind., was approved.

Max W. Soffer of St. Louis was elevated to the presidency of the district.

Mr. Mantel this week was still receiving praise for his masterly president's report and was showing his Indianapolis friends the handsome silver table Menorah he had received as a gift from the District Grand Lodge.

Mrs. Lena Rossin of South Bend was re-elected treasurer of the Women's Grand Lodge of District No. 2.

Major actions of the convention include (1) voting of full and unqualified aid to Great Britain; (2) pledging of cooperation in the $10,765,000 United Service Organization drive; (3) a call upon all lodges in the district to give all possible support and cooperation to the Jewish press which was praised for its services to and cooperation with B'nai B'rith locally, in the district and nationally; (4) praised the fund-raising agreement of B'nai B'rith's Anti-Defamation League and the American Jewish Committee but urged the Supreme Lodge of B'nai B'rith to continue the effort to obtain Jewish unity in matters of defense; (5) lauded the action of the recent Supreme Lodge convention in establishing a $100,000 B'nai B'rith-Henry Monsky Colony in Palestine as a "remarkable gesture of confidence and optimism in the triumph of right" and as "a courageous stand against totalitarian oppression"; (6) urged the expansion of B'nai B'rith's vocational service program in District 2.

DEFENDS JEWS, DIES

WASHINGTON — Aroused to a high state of excitement by a speech he had just completed attacking the validity of anti-Semitic charges against Jews, Representative M. Michael Edelstein (Dem., N. Y.) died in the arms of a friend Wednesday afternoon in the corridor outside the House Chamber. Rep. John E. Rankin, notorious anti-Semite, had charged the "International Jewish" bankers with attempting to plunge the nation into the European war, and Rep. Edelstein answered the biased talk.

● PEOPLE And ● PLACES

BACK HOME

Five days in the "big city," Chicago, and now back to the safe slow pace of Nap town. And in those five days lots of things have happened, even in Indianapolis. Of course many people migrated to Chicago over the holidays. There is nothing more disconcerting than to go to that big city and bump into "hometown folks." Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berger, Burt Kohn, Harold Stolkin, and Bobby Cooper were a few of the migrants.

HEART THROBS

Selma Cooper was the recipient of a lovely watch from a Lafayette admirer. Marcie Goldstein also received a gift in the shape of a diamond ring from Ben Linder. And again the Star Debs called a meeting—to hear Marcie's engagement tale this time.

BE PATRIOTIC

Girls, here's your opportunity to be patriotic. And an easy way it is too! The "Y" is sponsoring a dance at the Fort every Wednesday night for the buck privates. They have a special bus leaving from the "Y" to take the girls out, and a good time is guaranteed for all. From all reports everybody has a riproaring time at these affairs, and anybody interested may contact either the "Y" or Kirshbaum. Come on girls, get patriotic and spend an evening dancing with the khaki clad lads.

MORE ABOUT SOLDIERS

Speaking of buck privates, I hear from all the way down Shelby way that privates Hal Marshall and Jerry Adams, those two chief exponents of madcapery, are becoming real soldiers. And not only that, but they like it! And in the spare time they have between 15 mile hikes, maneuvers, and such, from 5 a. m. till lights out at 9, they are planning to help produce weekly radio shows. Not only that, they were already recommended for Officer's Training School. Which only goes to show you that Indianapolis's loss was the army's gain.

MAY 30TH

Memorial Day in Indianapolis—picnics, picnics. At Noblesville were Betty and Julie Maurer, Lenore Cohen and fiancé, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Richter, etc. The Jack Maurers, Mary Fink and husband, and others in the party at Northern Beach. Ruth Rosenthal and Lou Silvers spending "A DAY at the Races" or "I'd Rather Be Eating Chicken at Noblesville." Art Barrett and Lou Munter were dancing at the Netherland Plaza in Cincinnati, and Dorothy Braun was also enjoying the sights of that fair city. Turkey Run drew Marshall Lyons, Evelyn Stein, Annette Herman, and Morrie Cantor. Swimming at Broadmoor were Betty Sacks, Phyllis Block, Mrs. Harry Taylor, Caroline Efrogmson and her cunning baby Elaine, Shirley Mossler, Eleanore Rubin, and then, of course, a lot of males.

SUNDAY

Sunday night at Westlake—happy-hearted Janet Cooler and Bernie Rose dancing and talking, Dorothy Cooper and draftee Irv Berkowitz who is slated to leave in a few months, much to Dorothy's regret, Natalie Stolkin, Frances Fleischman, Rose Schwartz and husband, Dave Tavel, etc., etc. That same evening a charming group were enjoying cocktails at the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Max Farb. Sipping the delicious orange blossom cocktails made only as Max can make them, were Mr. and Mrs. Al Levenson, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Samis of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Platt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Solotkin, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Shulkin (the former Gertie Goldberg), Mr. Goodman Blumberg of Boston, and Miss Lillian Weil, just arrived home, at last, after eight months in the West. Lil brought full regalia from Chinatown, Mexico, and other points of interest, and now our house looks like a museum. Anyone want a couple of authentic Mexican hats?

TUESDAY

Tuesday evening in the Sapphire Room enjoying Art Berry's music were Dr. and Mrs. Harold Jaffe, and Joe Rothbard. A new high in ugliness has been hit by the "Angel"—the one and only "Angel." Watching him wrestle a week ago were Senator and Mrs. Weiss and family, Florence Slutsky, Herb Backer, Nate Fogel, Jack Maurer, Harriet Tamler, Jane Halpern, Rudy Klapper and wife, Sally Roth. What an exhibition! An hour and a half of grunting and grunting, while a fascinated audience marveled at the tremendous strength exhibited by the "Angel," but groaned

NEW CARS

Tevie Jacobs is sporting a new Plymouth and Jack Kammins rides about in a new two-tone Dodge, or, as Jack puts it, a "Dodge Fluid Drive."

Mrs. Max Farb has returned from St. Louis where she attended the graduation exercises of Dr. Sidney Samis, of New York, from the St. Louis University Medical School. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Samis, who were her guests here last week.

Mrs. I. B. Friedman of Connersville spent last week-end with Mrs. Jack Pozner, 708 E. Raymond. Mr. and Mrs. David B. Klain, 2917 Broadway, had as their guests last week, Mrs. A. Fender, Mr. A. Ritka and Mr. M. Lester all of Chicago.

The unveiling of a tombstone in memory of Mrs. Ida B. Dobrowitz will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Polish cemetery, with Rabbi Elias Charry and Cantor Myro Glass officiating. Friends and relatives are invited.

The many friends here of Max Dessau, a former resident of Indianapolis and husband of the late Agatha Selig Dessau, were grieved to learn of his death in New York from a heart attack following an operation.

Atlantic Monthly Writer Sees Nuremberg Laws as Possibility For America

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

NEW YORK—It is not impossible that the Nuremberg Laws may eventually be "reenacted in this country and enforced with vigor," declares Albert Jay Nock, American philosopher and author, in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

Nock, who is known as a skeptic in his writings, bases his prediction chiefly on his expectation of "credit inflation, currency inflation, repudiation, and perhaps great civil disturbances" in the United States. Citing a number of historical facts, he comes to the conclusion that governmental protection of the Jews in the face of a strong popular prejudice and agitation would hardly amount to anything.

"When our economic reckoning comes due; when the barked and necessitous proletariat and the equally necessitous middle class feel the squeeze forcing them together in a demonstration against anything that can be made to look like a common enemy; when the upper class remains sullen and apathetic; when proletarian demagogues throughout the country raise the old cry 'Der Jud ist schuld'—the government will then be under an unprecedented temptation to use the ensuing agitation as a lightning rod," Nock writes.

The article, entitled "The Jewish Problem in America," is the first of a series which the Atlantic Monthly has started as "a discussion of a problem which is of the utmost gravity." Jews and Gentiles will be invited by the publication to participate in this discussion "in the hope that a free and forthright debate will reduce the pressure, now dangerously high, and leave us with a healthier understanding of the human elements involved," the editor states.

Nock concludes his article by expressing his conviction that "there is now no rational ground whatever for an optimistic persuasion that the Jewish problem may be safely trusted to settle itself if let alone." The element of time is against this notion, he believes. He does not doubt that, if even the destructive force now latent in America were released, the consequences would be "as appalling in their extent and magnitude as anything since the Middle Ages."

"The American mob's grim reputation for sheer anthropoid savagery is equaled only by that of the revolutionary mobs of Paris," the writer asserts.

All former scouts of the Troop and fathers of the present scouts have been asked to go on the overnight hike. The banquet is planned as a reunion affair for all officials and former scouts who have served with the Troop during the past twenty-five years.

Tavel, Jack Sapirie, James Wohlfeld, Leo Klein, Robert Teitel, Sidney Sakowitz and Kurt Carsch.

Several families have had large representation in the history of the troop. Four members of the Wohlfeld family have been scouts, including Elmer, Leonard, James and Gerald.

The Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Committee, under the leadership of Joseph B. Baernkopf, chairman of the Troop Committee, includes Louis Trinz, Edgar S. Joseph, Victor M. Goldberg, Julian J. Schwab, Charles Efrogmson, Mr. Traugott and Mr. Feibleman.

Money Pours in for Gifts For Grads, Confirmants

With over $50 already received of the money which would ordinarily have been used to buy gifts for graduates and confirmants, Mrs. J. A. Goodman and Miss Emma Gelman this week pointed out that Father's Day gifts could be turned to the same useful purpose.

Under the plan those desiring to honor friends or relatives, send the money either to Mrs. Goodman or Miss Gelman instead of buying a gift, and in turn the person honored is sent an attractive card from the Youth Aliyah committee relating that a gift of money to help save Jewish children by giving them a haven in Palestine had been made in their name.

"Money is coming in the mail every day," Mrs. Goodman said, "and I want to thank the community in behalf of the children they are helping for its splendid response."

Mrs. Goodman's address is Kessler Blvd., while Miss Gelman lives at 4521 N. Pennsylvania.

Kirshbaum To Limit Day Camp To Hundred

Two slates, both headed by president Max Farb, were named by the nominating committee of Indianapolis lodge B'nai B'rith for the election set for Monday night, June 16 at Kirshbaum Center.

Nomination of Mr. Farb was made necessary by the resignation of Douglas Brown, first vice president. Nominations may also be made from the floor.

A motion praising Sam Mantel retiring president of District 2 for his "very splendid administration" and his "excellent work as presiding officer" of the Columbus convention, was passed at the meeting Monday night.

In making the report of the nominating committee, Richard P. Efrogmson, chairman, said it was the feeling of the committee that the offices of financial and recording secretary should be combined into one.

Wedgwood Here Says Partition In Offing

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK — Revival of the Palestine partition scheme as part of the British plan to establish a pan-Arab federation was predicted at a press conference this week by Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, pro-Zionist Laborite member of Parliament, who has just arrived here for a three-month tour.

Asked how he visualized the status of Palestine in connection with the pan-Arab federation which Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden indicated last week the British government would support, Colonel Wedgwood said he expected that a portion of Palestine would be proclaimed as a Jewish state, affiliated with the proposed Arab federation.

Speaks on

Converts

A RABBI of our town tells me that in the past year he has helped to induct some half dozen Christians into Judaism. This was most amazing information in a time when being Jewish is far from a popular identity. So I asked the rabbi how come: Why did some half dozen comfortable Christians set out to be Jews in times like these and how were they made from Christians into Jews?

The reason why these Christians became Jews turned out to be simple enough. The rabbi hadn't gone about with missionary zeal hunting for Christians to make Jews of. It was this way: A Christian gentleman fell in love with a Jewish lady, or vice versa, and in search for adjustment he or she came, at length, to one or the other of the rabbis of our town for conversion.

It seems there is nothing as courageous as love.

The rabbi was very careful, in all cases, to warn the prospects of the serious implications of being a Jew: That it is a most unpopular cause to be a Jew, that to become a Jew is to inherit the affliction of an ancient hate, that a Jew is a person who is often set aside socially and professionally, that it's really hard to be a Jew.

Then, if knowing all this, the applicant for Judaism still wanted to be Jewish, the rabbi took steps to teach him how to be a Jew. (There was one case in which the applicant changed his mind, but whether from lack of courage or for some other reason is not known.)

Having learned all the social and economic disadvantages of being Jewish, the applicant took up a course on its spiritual privileges. There is a textbook on that, especially written for converts: "Judaism, a Manual for the Instruction of Proselytes," prepared by the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

"Judaism is a world religion, not a tribal or racial religion," he was told by the book in its foreword. "Its teachings are intended to all mankind. The supreme task of Israel has been first to receive and develop our faith and then to make it known to the peoples of the earth."

The Jews are not seekers for converts. "Abraham," says the proselyte's manual, "was not bidden to compel people to accept his belief but so to live himself and so to make known his religion that both would be blessings. That is what Judaism aims to do."

On his next step into the house of Israel the convert learned what Judaism is: "The Jewish conception of God makes righteousness and love among men the heart and soul of all human conduct. 'Ye shall be holy for I the Lord your God am holy. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man: 'Have we not all one father and hath not one God created us all?'"

The convert learned it is as simple as that to be Jewish. If he had been a good Christian he could not feel a stranger among the Jews. He saw that they always had been his brethren seeking with him the same spiritual and moral goals.

If he is a freedom-loving man he is glad to learn that Judaism does not purpose to bind his mind with dogmas. "Unlike many other religions Judaism does not claim an exclusive monopoly on the truth," he is told. "It does not say: 'You must believe as we believe, otherwise you will not be saved.' Followers of Judaism believe it to be the highest, purest revelation of truth to man, but we are taught that 'the righteous of all nations have a portion in the world to come.'"

He learned that while the Bible is the first word of God, given through the most inspired of men, it is not the last. This is the Jewish way of looking at revelation. God continues "to make himself known through our own souls and even more through great and inspired individuals."

There is a chapter in the manual on the Jewish hope of immortality and a number of pages on the meaning of our holidays, a chapter on our ideals: The Ten Commandments, brotherly love, striving after holiness, broad charity.

After a number of weeks of study the time came for examination and induction of the convert. Three of our rabbis were present at each of the half dozen conventions. The manual prescribes seven questions to be asked:

Is it of your own free will that you seek admittance into the Jewish fold? Do you renounce your former faith? Do you pledge your loyalty to Judaism? Do you promise to cast your lot with the people of Israel amid all circumstances and conditions?

Do you promise to lead the Jewish life? Should you be blessed with children, do you agree to rear your children according to the Jewish faith? Do you also agree to have the male children circumcized?

These questions having been answered in the affirmative, the convert stepped over the threshold of Israel's house with this pledge:

I do herewith declare in the presence of God and the witnesses here assembled that I, of my own free will, seek the fellowship of Israel and that I fully accept the faith of Israel.

I believe that God is One, Almighty, Allwise and Most Holy.

I believe that man is created in the image of God; that it is his duty to imitate the holiness of God; that he is a free-will agent, responsible to God for his action; and that he is destined to everlasting life.

I believe that Israel is God's priest-people, the world's teacher in religion and righteousness as expressed in our Bible and interpreted in the spirit of Jewish tradition.

I believe that God ruleth the world with justice and love and in the fullness of time His Kingdom will be established on earth.

I promise that I shall endeavor to live, as far as it is in my power, in accordance with the ideals of Jewish life. I further promise that should I ever be blessed with children, I shall rear them in conformity with the Jewish religion. May God strengthen me in these resolutions. Most fervently, therefore, do I herewith pronounce the Jewish confession of faith: "Shema Yisroel Adonoy Elihenu Adonoy Echod. Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God, the Lord is One."

"It appears," I remarked to my friend, the rabbi, "that after this course of study a convert to Judaism probably knows more about being Jewish than many Jews who were born that way."

The rabbi guessed that was about right.

NEWS COLUMN

The rumors that Dr. Chaim Weizmann intends to fly to Palestine soon are unfounded. The head of the Zionists will stay on these shores the better part of the summer. . . . Look out for an interesting series of articles in the New York Post. It will be by George Backer, publisher of that paper, and will give his impressions of England, whence he is expected to return this month. . . . We're all for the United States army getting all the troopships it needs—but it does seem a shame that the S. S. Siboney had to be taken from the Lisbon-New York run for this purpose. The Siboney had been sold out for months ahead and thousands of refugees who had held tickets for this boat are now stranded for additional months to come. All of which greatly aggravates the refugee situation in Portugal, where thousands of Jews are concentrated awaiting a chance to escape from Europe.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Lion Feuchtwanger has finished his new novel, which describes life in a French concentration camp. The material is drawn from the author's personal experience. . . . Soon to be drafted by Uncle Sam is Gottfried Reinhardt, Hollywood producer and son of the famous director Max Reinhardt. . . . The up-and-coming publishing firm of Howell, Soskin and Company has now achieved a double permanence with the marriage of Bill Soskin to Virginia Howell. . . . Oscar Serlin, producer of "Life With Father," is now working on a new project, which will dramatize the history of the Associated Press.

Miss Helen B. Cohen, formerly of Indianapolis, who is now living in Chicago, spent the holiday week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Cohen and family.

The award is a $300 scholarship given annually to a student at the end of the junior year.

Established by B'nai B'rith in memory of the late Grover Cleveland Hall, who earned national acclaim and the 1927 Pulitzer prize for his crusade against bigotry, the fellowship was voted to Miss Buzbee, 22-year old daughter of a preacher in the Calvary Baptist church at Bessemer, Ala., in recognition of her outstanding contributions to interfaith relations at the University of Alabama. Nominations for the award were made by the directors of the University's Christian student foundations.

The $300 fellowship was voted to Miss Van Dyke by a faculty committee which agreed she had been the junior student who had made the most valuable contribution to interfaith relations on the University of Illinois campus during the past year.

STANDS the most powerful nation on the face of the world . . . powerful because of its 130,000,000 happy, unified, liberty-loving citizens . . . and powerful because of its infinite capacity to produce materials to construct a free, great country.

America boasts not of her capacity to produce goods for destruction, but stands serene and confident in this hour of world chaos in the knowledge that should the proponents of barbarism force her to do so, mankind will be stunned at the incredible torrent of death-dealing instruments a peace-loving, tolerant, but aroused people can fashion to crush the foes of tolerance and liberty.

God grant that our mountains will be undecaying monuments to our priceless heritage . . . that our boundless prairies will continue to produce not only our food, but the nourishment of those soil-rooted virtues which are threatened with banishment by the frenzied madmen of another continent. God grant that our great expanse of oceans will by their very greatness protect us from the exponents of doctrines that would rob us of our priceless rights of freedom of speech, freedom of religious worship, freedom of assembly and freedom for an enlightened press. We are proud to be part of the first line of defense of American liberties . . . to always stand militantly at the side of every true American against the inroads of doctrines seeking to destroy America's priceless heritage.

The Editor's Chair:

Now look what I'll have to do. I'll have to go through all the "chairs" for the past two or three years to bear out the predictions I made on at least three or four occasions about Lewis R. Sutin of Terre Haute, who, if you'll read the news story about the B'nai B'rith district convention last week, was elected to the second vice presidency of District No. 2. I thought the young giant was leadership timber when I first saw him back about three years ago when he rose to his feet in Fort Wayne to take issue with Saul Munter on how the state association of B'nai B'rith was founded. If Saul will excuse me, I'll repeat that Lewis, who seemed to me to be just a young upstart at that time, got up and said that "one of the biggest pleasures I get out of attending a state convention meeting is the privilege of contradicting Mr. Munter."

I became pretty friendly with Lew after that, and I learned that he was going up in the district some time, but I understood that it probably would be in about three or four years. His election as second vice president, which automatically means he will be president in two years, gives Terre Haute a second district head, since Rabbi Taxay headed the district some years ago.

Two other events at Columbus warrant special mention. First, the granting of a charter to a lodge at Vincennes is good news. That means that the very active Elkhart Lodge will no longer be the "baby" of the Indiana State Association.

The other item which deserves attention is the resolution urging that lodges give "all possible support and cooperation to the Jewish press." This is really something as far as I am concerned. Other organizations have called upon the Anglo-Jewish press week after week with fat bulging press releases for space, but when it came to the simple matter of recognition or support, the Anglo-Jewish press is overlooked. It was always my belief that when the Anglo-Jewish press deserved support, it would get that support. I am glad that B'nai B'rith was the first to make this matter of support a part of its policy. Any leader of any organization, whether it be a congregation or a community center, should know that those who subscribe to an Anglo-Jewish paper provide the pool out of which new members of their congregations or their organizations are secured. The lists, in fact, are almost interchangeable. It is those who ignore their Anglo-Jewish paper

Statesmanship

THE suggestion by Sam Mantel, retiring president of Grand Lodge District No. 2, that the nominating committee be abolished entirely by the Indianapolis lodge may be the solution for the difficulties of local organizations at election time. Indianapolis lodge, sincerely intending to democratize its elections this year, instructed its nominating committee to name two slates, and the move will definitely bring out a capacity attendance at the election meeting set for Monday, June 16.

Mr. Mantel's suggestion however would pave the way for the freest kind of election, with no one being able to charge that certain individuals dominate the nominations. At one meeting nominations would be made from the floor, and then at the next meeting with the membership fully apprized of the nominees, the election would take place.

While making the suggestion for the local lodge, Mr. Mantel is known to favor a change in the method of election for the State Association, designed to accomplish exactly what his local suggestion would do—return the election of officers back to where it belongs; to the membership.

Mr. Mantel realizes that the quickest way to destroy group harmony and work, and the surest way to alienate workers is to impose officers who have not shown by their past activities that they deserve positions of leadership. Workers in the ranks must be advanced if the organizations would escape literal decomposition.

Too often leaders of the community refuse to allow the community to vote for the men who make the community decisions. Mr. Mantel by his farsighted statesmanship has removed himself from the class who believe that only a select few, no matter how selected, are capable of guiding the destinies of their organization.

Uneasy Reading

IF any readers of The Post sleep tonight after reading the news story of the article by Albert Jay Nock, who wrote in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly that the Nuremberg Laws could well become a reality for the United States, then even the advent of Hitler himself wouldn't disturb them. But for you others who react like the pupil of an eye, the article will be to say the least very discomfoting.

The immediate question that arises, after reading the news story is what good is served by such writings. Naturally the truth must be known if correct safeguards are to be taken, but Nock's article is based on quite a few premises, some of which have no connection with immediate actuality. Nock's predictions rest on the possibility of (1) inflation, (2) repudiation, (3) civil disturbances, (4) a down-trodden proletariat, (5) a confused middle class, (6) an apathetic upper class, (7) eventual mob rule and the breakdown of law and order, and (8) futile government protection.

In the present topsy turvy world, it is almost unwise to attack any prediction, but the announcement by The Atlantic Monthly that the Jewish problem is "dangerously high," would not even be approved by Richard Gutstadt who often is accused of giving aggravated accounts of the Jewish position in the United States.

Current Comment

Division Between Rabbi and Layman Unwholesome, Rabbi Eugene Kohn Says in The Reconstructionist Viewpoint—From the beginning of Judaism until recent times, religious belief and practice were in ever-increasing measure the concern of the entire people. The term rabbi, in its origin, had no reference to a profession or vocation, but was an honorific title bestowed on one learned in the Torah and qualifying him for certain judicial and educational functions. It was not a prerequisite to speaking from the pulpit, or to performing any religious rite. Even in the ghetto, when the rabbi prepared to lecture on a topic of Jewish law, he had to prepare himself with great care lest his statements be challenged by a learned member of the congregation. Only in our day has the rabbinate deteriorated into a priesthood with specific religious functions denied to the laity.

Who is responsible for this unwholesome division between the spheres of the rabbinate and the laity? The evil originated in historic events and circumstances which cannot here be traced, but responsibility for its perpetuation rests on rabbis and laymen alike. Too many rabbis enjoy playing the oracle, shrink from meeting the challenge of lay thinking, feel their dignity enhanced by functioning as the sole religious authority in their congregation, are flattered by being considered nearer to God and more intimately acquainted with His will than the laymen who employ his services.

And too many laymen enjoy their immunity from religious responsibility, like to feel a vicarious virtue in paying the salary of a rabbi who relieves them of their responsibility of thinking about God and worshipping Him. Too many are content with professing a belief, though the belief means so little to them that they do not even bother to question whether they actually do believe what they profess. Too many are content with belonging to a synagogue for purposes of respectability, attending its services as a matter of form or from a sense of duty without getting a spark of religious inspiration from their attendance. Too many conform to Jewish practices or fail to conform to them without the faintest idea of what they are all about.

The rabbi who is humbly sincere in wanting to promote Jewish religion chafes at being treated like a "sacred cow" or some venerable antique that is taken care of but never put to use. And the intelligent layman who is sensitive to spiritual values is not satisfied with a merely passive role in Jewish religion, with reciting the creeds of others, with uttering the prayers of others, with observing meaningless taboos and unintelligible rites on the say-so of some other person. He wants Jewish religion to answer to his own need for religious self-expression. Reconstructionism brings that kind of rabbi and that kind of layman into happy fellowship for the advancement of Judaism as a religious civilization.

Unique Style, Etiquette Show Set For Thursday By Hadassah Chapter

"A Dinner Party Before Your Eyes," a feature play, and a fashion show, sponsored by the Child Welfare Committee of Hadassah, will be given at 2:30 p. m. Thursday, June 12 in L. S. Ayres air cooled auditorium. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the show and the admission is only 50 cents a person.

Mrs. L. L. Goodman, chairman of the Child Welfare committee, in urging all members of the Indianapolis chapter to sell as many tickets as possible pointed out that the fund is $600 short and the quota must be met or the underprivileged children of Palestine will suffer.

"Our child welfare fund is $600 short," Mrs. Goodman said. "This means that our poor children in Palestine will suffer. Through the influence of one of our members," she continued, "we have been able to get L. S. Ayres to put on the show, 'A Dinner Party Before Your Eyes,' in which two girl models and two male models, dressed in summer formal, eat an actual dinner. While they eat, a commentator speaks on etiquette, china, linen, etc." In addition a style show, with L. S. Ayres models has been arranged, Mrs. Goodman added.

Palestine Sees British Planning Syria Attacks

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON—The threatened invasion of Palestine by German forces based in French-mandated Syria and Lebanon bade fair this week to be turned into an entry of Allied troops into Syria from the Holy Land. This would help to dispel the fears of the Holy Land's being turned into a battleground.

Reports from Beirut and Jerusalem indicated that Allied action against the French-mandated territories was imminent, while diplomatic quarters in Ankara were quoted by the London Evening Standard as stating that the British government was expected to declare these enemy-occupied territories.

Mrs. Seymour Stein, of Hartford City, Ind., has returned from a 10-day visit with her son, First Class Private Dick Stein, who is a member of the band at Camp Shelby, Miss. She also visited Leonard Larman, Henry Podkin, Harry Berger, of Indianapolis, and Mr. Goldberg of Anderson. Mrs. Stein was guest of honor at a camp dance at which the 12-piece dance orchestra, of which her son is soloist, dedicated the final number to her.

who also ignore their congregation, and who ignore their other Jewish organizations. If an Anglo-Jewish paper can get a subscription from one of this group, then the task of the solicitor for the congregation or the B'nai B'rith, or the Jewish Welfare Fund is simplified many fold, because week after week they get just the type of reading that tends to wean them back into active community life. I'm right on this, and I know it, and again I want to applaud the move of the B'nai B'rith in giving recognition to the Anglo-Jewish press.
